FRIGHTFULLY MANGLED.

Henry G. Short Killed by Train at Derby, N. H.

Derby, N. H., July 7.—The community was shocked yesterday when the news of a fatal accident was made known by which Henry G. Short, aged 25 years, was killed. His body was frightfully mangled by being run over on the railroad, the pieces being strewn along the track for over fifty rods.

Horse Took Long Leap.

Motorists who happened along the Middlesex road near Three-mile bridge, so-called, early last evening, think that someone must have been injured in a runaway accident which probably occurred in the hills somewhere east of the road. A bay mare attached to a light road rig came dashing down the hill just as two or three automobiles have in view. The horse sped across the path of the motorists and finally plunged over a bank within a few feet of the river. Residents of the neighborhood were quick to reach the spot and an examination of the horse revealed only a few bruises. The wagon was badly damaged and a small load of fishing tackle, including a crowd of fish, was distributed along the road. A few of the folks hung around the bridge for awhile, but no one appeared to claim the errand steed, which was afterwards quarantined in a nearby barn for the night. The non-appearance of the owner led several to believe that someone might have been injured when the horse started down the trail.

GRANITEVILLE.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Alex McCormack of Portland Ore., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Daniels. William Daniels went to Waterbury and Burlington to spend the week-end with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robertson and two sons, Carl and James, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alex Daniels for a few weeks.

The Barre Athletics returned triumphant from their first trip of this season. On Saturday they defeated the Verdi club of Burlington on Centennial park by a score of 16 to 7, in a rather uninteresting game. Yesterday the Barre team was slated to play the Fifth infantry at the government reservation at Plattsburg, N. Y. When the appointed hour arrived for the excursion across Lake Champlain, it was discovered that the launch chartered for their use was not in good running order. The launch was placed at the disposal of the Barre team by the officials at the Plattsburg barracks. All hopes of crossing the water in time for the game were abandoned, and the infantry team was notified. The game Saturday against the Verdi club at Burlington was played in a slight drizzle of rain. Heavy hitting by the Barre club featured the game. They pounded Lavin, the Dartmouth twirler, unmercifully. For the Athletics Wright on first base proved to be a star. Whalen and Hamilton starred for the losing aggregation. The line-up of the Barre team was as follows: Kelle, S. Wright 1b, Johnston 2b, Hoernle, Brown, cf, Gay rf, Peduzzi 2b, Gillilan lf, T. Davidson p. The Verdi club was composed of the following players: Hamilton c, Rivers rf, Whalen ss, O'Brien 2b, Lavin 1b, Lavin p, Smith 1b, Finnegan cf, Wheat if.

TWO SWAM ASHORE
AND FOUR DROWNED

When Their Sailboat Was Wrecked on Lake Ontario Yesterday—Steamer Passed Near the Men.

Rochester, N. Y., July 7.—Two Rochester men who swam to shore from the wreckage of a sailboat on Lake Ontario near Wolcott yesterday afternoon told of the drowning of four companions, all residents of this city, after a ten-hour fight against death. The dead are: Frank Salzer, vice-president and superintendent of a shoe company; Edward Keeler, painter; Alexander T. Lemmon, fisherman; and Frank A. McCullough, cutter.

The survivors, Peter A. Blattner and Cornelius Coughlin, say the six left Sodus point for a cruise to Oswego. They spent Thursday evening and part of July 4 in Oswego and started to return Friday night. They were held in a calm most of Saturday near Fairhaven.

At about 3 o'clock Sunday morning a hurricane struck the yacht, a thirty-footer, and broke the mast. Despite their efforts, the boat capsized. The men attempted to right it but discovered they could only hang on and wait for dawn. Later a steamer passed near them and they yelled for help, but were unheard. The steamer went on and the six men drifted slowly shoreward.

When they were about four miles from shore McCullough, said to have been an expert swimmer, swung from the boat to swim in and seek help. There is a slight possibility that he reached shore, but the survivors are positive that they saw him sink.

Hours of agony for the five men left followed. Suddenly they felt a shock and the boat broke into fragments, some of which were large enough to support them. The impact knocked Lemmon and Salzer into the water and they sank.

Half a mile from shore the wreckage went upon rocks, Keeler, who was caught beneath a large piece of timber, went down. Coughlin and Blattner reached shore and applied at a farmhouse for help. The body of Keeler was recovered.

CENTURY OF PEACE
BEING CELEBRATED

Following Commodore Perry's Victory on Lake Erie—Pennsylvania City Is Filling with Great Thrill.

Erie, Pa., July 7.—The chiming of church bells and the booming of cannon Sunday morning formally opened the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie and the commemoration of a century of peace between Great Britain and the United States.

"Peace Sunday" was the name given to the occasion by W. Pitt Gifford, chairman of the Perry centennial commission, and throughout the day there was no deviation from the title. Special services were held in all the churches in the morning, and a great throng filled Perry square in the afternoon, when churchmen of all denominations gathered in mass meeting. Rev. Dr. Rodgers Israel, president of the Protestant Episcopal diocese at Erie, delivered the invocation, State Senator Henry A. Clark and Charles E. English of Erie made the principal addresses, and Rev. John E. Fitzmaurice, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Erie, pronounced the benediction.

Workmen toiled Saturday night and early Sunday morning to complete the decorations, and at dusk last night the electric light and cannon cast after the color of honor and sent through the miles of electric wires stretched in the principal streets of the city.

Down in the harbor, moored to a dock not far from the point from which she sailed at the head of Commodore Perry's little fleet a century ago to find the British ships in the western waters of Lake Erie, lies the Niagara. Thousands of visitors looked on and were shown the details of the old fighting vessel. Each heard the story of how, years ago, Perry had swept the British from the Great Lakes, the Niagara had sunk in Misery bay, near Erie, and how she had been raised recently and reproduced from the original drawings of the ship builder. Enough of the old vessel remained to allow the committee to have her rebuilt, and cannon cast after the drawings of the guns made for Perry, are mounted on the deck.

Near by in the harbor, the revenue cutter Morrill and the naval training ship Essex rode at anchor, keeping watch over the charge they will escort on a round of celebrations to be held at the principal ports of the Great Lakes during the summer and early autumn. The Erie celebration will continue throughout the week, and already thousands of persons have arrived from all parts of the country.

VETERANS DESERT GETTYSBURG.

Camp Closed After the 50th Anniversary Celebration.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 7.—The serving of the last hot meal and the departure of the last train of veterans yesterday morning, marked the actual closing of the big camp, which during the past week held between 50,000 and 55,000 Civil war soldiers from every section of the United States, here for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle. Less than 300 veterans remained in the camp for the last night.

The service of the state police force was not needed yesterday, the visitors being in town and it is expected that Major Groome and his men will leave Gettysburg today.

All Saturday, weary veterans walked over the dusty roads and streets to the railroad stations in the big camp and in the town of Gettysburg and stood or sat around under the rays of a scorching sun while the trains to take them home were being prepared.

There were no flying banners, blaring bands or marching columns. The veterans came to the stations and waited patiently for the announcer with his big megaphone to tell them their trains were made up. Usually about twelve coaches constituted a train and the railroad people faced the biggest problem of the week in getting loaded trains away.

It was the most sultry and most uncomfortable day of the week. One old soldier in gray from North Carolina dropped dead in the crowd at the town station of one of the railroads. He was H. H. Hodges of Union Hill, N. C.

FIRE FORCED
100 TO BE IDLE

Main Building of Sheepskin Factory at Peabody, Mass., Burned

CAUSE OF BLAZE
IS NOT KNOWN

W. J. Budgell & Sons Probably Will Rebuild the Factory

Peabody, Mass., July 7.—The main building of the factory of W. J. Budgell & Sons, manufacturers of sheepskins, was destroyed by fire early today, with a loss exceeding $60,000. As a result, nearly 100 persons will be out of work until the factory can be rebuilt. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

STABBING WITH SHEARS.

And Revolver Was Fired to Scare Off the Fighters.

Winoski, July 7.—Fire arrests were made Saturday shortly before midnight as the result of a fight among Finlanders in the block on lower West Canal street. One of the men was stabbed with shears about eight inches in length and others received minor cuts. Emil Kallaman was just squeezing through the broken panel of the door to the street when Chief of Police Barber arrived. Special Officers Martin and James Holloran and J. F. O'Sullivan, with Chief Barber, made the arrests.

The foreigners had been to a dance in the McGreevy block on Malletts Bay avenue and the scrap was started when they reached home. All the men had been using intoxicants rather freely. Andrew Halt was the most seriously wounded and received three deep cuts in the muscles of the left arm, one in the small of the back, a cut in the right hand and a small piece of one ear was taken off. His shirt was torn from him, covered with blood. The seriousness of the cuts cannot be determined for a few days. The house looked a wreck. The furniture was strewn and the door panels broken.

During the melee there were several shots fired, but no one was hit. The man who did the shooting said that he was trying to scare the others so they would stop fighting. Those arrested were Anton Bartomo, Aara Grenman, Mikka Saari, Emil Kallaman and Andrew Halt. It is alleged that Kallaman was the one who used the shears.

GRIEVING WIDOW

With Instructions That She and Her Daughter Be Buried at Her Former Home in Bradford.

Amsterdam, N. Y., July 7.—Mrs. Martha Richards, a widow aged forty-nine, and her only child, a five-year-old girl, were yesterday found asphyxiated by illuminating gas in their flat here. The mother evidently planned the tragedy, having grieved over the death of her husband.

Mrs. Richards, who was in comfortable circumstances, left a note instructing that the double funeral be held in Bradford, Vt., her former home.

THROWN FROM WAGON.

Neil Nielsen Was Bruised in Accident Near South Barre.

While on his way home from a funeral at Wilson cemetery at South Barre yesterday afternoon, Neil Nielsen, a well known Plainfield farmer, was thrown from his carriage, striking on his head and inflicting painful injuries about the neck and shoulders. On the seat with him was his wife, who, however, managed to retain her place in the carriage. A part of the funeral party was proceeding along the main road near D. V. Camp's residence when a train came along the Williamstown track. The high-spirited colt which Neil Nielsen drove, took a look at the puffing locomotive and gave a leap in the air.

The driver was nearly unconscious when friends picked him up and a basty call was sent for a physician. Dr. M. L. Chandler arrived a few moments after the mishap occurred and he advised removing the injured man to Barre. Neil Nielsen was taken to the home of Andrew Bjorn on Currier street. This afternoon his condition was somewhat improved and he was removed to the Perry & Noonan ambulance to his home. The physician said that the man would recover from the effects of the accident.

SIX WERE INJURED
AS AUTOS COLLIDED

Taxicab Turned Over in Burlington Street When It Was Struck by Heavier Touring Car.

Burlington, July 7.—As seven-year-old Blanche Lafond, in what is thought to be a dying condition, was being rushed to the Mary Fletcher hospital last evening in a taxicab, the automobile crashed into a heavier machine, driven by George H. Horton, and six people were more or less seriously injured. The taxicab turned turtle and was smashed into junk, but the other machine was badly broken up with the exception of a running board and two mudguards.

The injured: Charles Shepard, chauffeur, injuries to hip and back; possibly serious internal injuries. Blanche Lafond, seven years old, extent of injuries unknown. At Mary Fletcher hospital with tetanus.

Peter Lafond, 10 Ward street, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Peter Lafond, cuts and bruises. Arthur Smith, bruises and shock. Aunt of Blanche Lafond, cuts and bruises.

The taxicab was from the Palace garage and had gone to 10 Ward street on an emergency call. The little girl, accompanied by her mother and father and an aunt, was taken in and the chauffeur was not to get on his feet until the hospital might stay the progress of tetanus from which she was suffering, and save the child's life.

Charles Shepard, the chauffeur, accordingly speeded the car up and was making fast time up North street when he saw Horton's car at the North Willard street crossing. Neither saw the other in time to stop and the taxicab went into the side of Horton's automobile. The taxicab was thrown over and Shepard was buried under the wreckage. Arthur Smith, who was in Horton's car, was thrown a considerable distance and rendered unconscious. Horton was apparently uninjured but all of the others were cut and bruised.

Probably Shepard is the most seriously hurt, as he was in the front of the machine, which is completely demolished. He complained of his hip and back last night and it is thought there may be internal injuries of a serious nature. The little girl was in such a dazed condition that it is not known whether or not she realized what happened. Both Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lafond, her parents, were cut about the face and hands and otherwise severely bruised. Lafond complained last night of injuries to his hip. The other occupants of the car were injured to about the same extent.

Dr. G. E. Latour happened along about that time and rushed the little girl to the hospital. Later Mr. and Mrs. Lafond went there for treatment. The other woman was able to go home as also was Smith.

A week ago yesterday the little girl was injured at Queen City Park when one foot was caught by the shaft of a motor boat. One ankle was badly bruised but the injury was not considered dangerous at that time. Since then it has been under treatment, and only a short time ago tetanus developed.

HELD JOINT PICNIC.

Socialists of Washington County Gathered in Barre.

Saturday marked a red-letter day in the annals of the Washington county Socialist organization, for on that day every local in the county, including two Barre locals, Westerville, Graniteville, Northfield, Waterbury and Montpelier, were represented in a field day program, the first outdoor attempt of its kind, at the city pasture near Hope cemetery on the Merchant street extension.

Socialists from all over Washington county foregathered there in the early hours of the forenoon and from 10 o'clock till rain interfered in the late afternoon, the pasture was the scene of much merry-making.

The morning was given over entirely to baseball, a team from the Northfield local competing with the combined teams of Barre and Barre Town players, for the county honors. More than 250 people assembled along the base line to cheer their favorites on. The game developed many startling features and its ultimate issue, 7 to 6 in favor of Northfield, was hailed with a large measure of enthusiasm by the fans from over on the Dig. James Scott was the umpire, and the coaching of Billy Russell, who has all the fine points of the game at his finger ends, and is in his element playing the role of advisor. The result of the game was the score of 6 to 2 in favor of Graniteville.

About 5:30 o'clock a shower fell, which had the effect of sending the crowd to shelter for a time and somewhat interrupted the sports, but it was soon over and the football game was started. The rival eleven were captained by W. W. Russell for Graniteville and Charles Thom for the Foreign Masons, while George Stewart filled the bill as referee. The shower had somewhat cooled the air by this time and the boys played a fast and vigorous game. The foreign team made strenuous efforts to score from their rivals, but it was of no avail and they went down to defeat, 10 to 0. The losers, however, took the defeat like true sportsmen and hope for better luck next year.

Some of the athletic events scheduled were cut out on account of the intense heat, but there was a day of real enjoyment for everyone present and the committee, composed of the following members of the Foreign lodge, are to be congratulated upon the successful outcome of their efforts: Hugh Christie, president; Charles Leslie, secretary; James Wood, Alex. Wilcox, George McLeod, William Fairs, George Anderson, John Duguid, Andrew Falconer and George Patterson.

Following is the prize list: Girls' race, under twelve years—Jennie Milne, Hazel Jopp, Jennie Fairs. Girls' race, over twelve years—Violet Little, Christine Melvin, Lily Beattie. Boys' race, under twelve years—John Jopp, James Booth, Albert Christie. Ladies' place kick—Mrs. William Fairs, Miss Beatrice Gibson, Mrs. George Thompson.

CRISIS COMES IN STRIKE WAR

Conference Being Held in Boston Street Car Trouble

UNION MEN SLIGHT
MAYOR FITZGERALD

Object to Allowing Him to Appoint Third Arbitrator

Boston, July 7.—The crisis in the street railway strike situation seemed to have been reached today, when representatives of the Boston Elevated Railway company and the carmen's union met a committee of the Chamber of Commerce in an endeavor to reach an amicable settlement of the controversy that threatens to tie up practically the whole metropolitan electric system.

James L. Richards, a director of the company, appeared for the company, and Attorney James H. Vahey represented the 8,000 employees.

The executive board of the union also was in session, prepared to give Mr. Vahey any instructions he might desire on the points developed at the conference.

The objection of the union to allowing Mayor Fitzgerald to name the third arbitrator to act with those chosen by the union and the company was said to be the chief obstacle in an amicable settlement of the men's demands for increased wages.

MASON'S OUT OF DOORS.

Fine Picnic Held at Caledonia Park on Saturday.

The day following the Fourth, members of the Foreign lodge of Masons, together with a large contingent from the local Granite lodge, sought refuge from the excessive heat by holding their annual picnic and cooling shade of Caledonia park. There were over 300 present, who went early in the day by the Wells River and electric roads, and despite the fact that the temperature ranged up towards the century mark in the afternoon, the outing was one of the most successful which the Masonic fraternity has ever held in the city.

There were the usual games, sports and dancing, and the picnicers enjoyed their lunches in the shade of the trees. A large and efficient committee served refreshments of various kinds with liberal hand, and spared no effort whatever in assisting to entertain the large and exceedingly sociable gathering.

Harris' orchestra furnished excellent music for those who tripped the light fantastic toe, and James Sim, the cornetist, made the welkin ring with some finely rendered solos, such as "Auld Robin Gray," "The Auld House," "Robin Adair," and other favorites, which were greatly appreciated. The friendly sporting rivalry between the two Masonic lodges found outlet in games of baseball and football, wherein the foreign element in both events got somewhat badly trimmed.

In the baseball game, the captains were James Reid for the Granite lodge and James Robertson for the opposing side. Scott and Donald were the batsmen for the local boys and Duguid and Chester for the foreign team. Bob Gordon acted as umpire and, according to the general Robert himself, his decisions were highly approved—sometimes, and sometimes they were not. The features of the game were a home run made by Angus McDonald, who certainly is some sprinter when it comes to base running, and the coaching of Billy Russell, who has all the fine points of the game at his finger ends, and is in his element playing the role of advisor. The result of the game was the score of 6 to 2 in favor of Granite lodge.

About 5:30 o'clock a shower fell, which had the effect of sending the crowd to shelter for a time and somewhat interrupted the sports, but it was soon over and the football game was started. The rival eleven were captained by W. W. Russell for Graniteville and Charles Thom for the Foreign Masons, while George Stewart filled the bill as referee. INTERMENT AT WILLIAMSTOWN.

And Funeral of Selden Jangraw Was Held at South Barre.

The funeral of Selden Jangraw, whose death occurred at the City Hospital Friday morning, after a two weeks' illness of typhoid fever and pneumonia, was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Fushey, at South Barre, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Newell, pastor of the Heddling Methodist church, officiating. The bearers were as follows: George Allen, Peter Lafayette, Miner Lewis and Isaac Recor. HEAT CURTAILED PICNIC.

Nevertheless Over 300 People Enjoyed Woodmen's Annual Affair.

It was children's day at Dewey park Saturday afternoon, when more than 300 young people gathered there for the annual picnic of Granite City camp, No. 8086, Modern Woodmen of America. The crowd of picnicers wasn't composed entirely of youngsters, for there were a good many members of the lodge present with their wives, but the day's program was arranged first of all for the entertainment of the children.

Owing to the extreme heat, it was thought best to postpone the athletic events that usually form a conspicuous part of the day's doings. Consequently the races, jumping events, etc., that always occupy the early hours of the day at Dewey park were deferred until late afternoon and then at the last moment again postponed on account of rain. It is not unlikely that the part of the program omitted will be carried out before the summer is over.

The only contest of the afternoon was the annual baseball game between the married and single men. James Walker captained the bachelors, while Edward Anderson led the benedicts. Hot weather did not interfere with the contest until the seventh inning, when all hands bade the diamond farewell and started for the welcome shelter of a nearby grove. In the points for the single men's outfit were Edmund Lorange, James Walker, with Pierson and Lorange opposing. That the single men does not reflect any disadvantage in the singles, for both sides fought an equal valor for the flag.

From 2 o'clock until the hour of departing at 6, Riley's orchestra furnished music for dancing in the park pavilion. The floor was always crowded with merry-makers and for the reason that a portion of the day's observance had to be cancelled on account of the sun, it may be said that the dance was the most satisfying feature of this year's picnic.

Throughout the afternoon, warm weather refreshments were taken, the champagne, sodas, lemonade and every conceivable variety of soft drinks. There was an abundance of fruit and candy and peanuts for the youngsters.

The committee in charge of the affair made every effort to give the crowd a good time and almost anyone who went was ready at the close to declare that it had succeeded. The committee consisted of John Kenzie, Edward Anderson, John McKenzie, A. J. Lorange and James Walker.

The only unfortunate incident of the day came at the close of the picnic after a large part of the crowd had left for home. John R. McKenzie, who had remained with others to put the park in order, was on his way home with a team when the horse suddenly lifted its feet over the dash board, one of the hoofs striking the driver in the leg. Mr. McKenzie managed to jump to the ground and the horse was soon quieted, but a later examination of the man's leg revealed a fracture just above the ankle. He was taken to his home, where a physician was called. Yesterday, Mr. McKenzie was resting comfortably, although the doctor had told him that several weeks would elapse before he could use the injured member again.

VETERANS BACK, HAPPY.

Returned From Gettysburg Enthusiastic Over Treatment.

Barre veterans of R. B. Crandall post, No. 56, Grand Army of the Republic, who have been attending the reunion at Gettysburg, arrived in the city early this morning on a special train which met the Vermont special at Montpelier Junction. On the train were several veterans from Washington, Barre Town, Williamstown and nearby towns, who had been at this point when the Vermont delegation left for Gettysburg June 28. All of the Barre soldiers returned with the exception of Capt. A. F. Dodge, who will visit in Northampton, Pa., for a few weeks, and George K. Beckley, who went to Washington, D. C., for a short stay.

The boys in blue from this section were none the worse for their week's stay on the old battlefield and all are disposed to compliment the government on the excellent manner in which the vast army of some 50,000 war veterans was handled on the field. The weather was extremely hot, they say, but every possible precaution was taken to reduce the number of heat prostrations. They regard the anniversary observance of the battle as something to be remembered. There were only eight deaths during the week and most every man on the sick list was able to depart with the comrades when camp was broken Saturday.

Among the veterans from this section who were in Gettysburg were: Edward Gorman, Charles Leppage, Raymond B. Lusk, Alfred S. Parkhurst, Charles C. Varney, John W. Averill, E. L. Smith, John Cabinebaugh and Nathaniel Bond.

The marriage was attended by only intimate friends and relatives of the couple.

Mr. Keir has resided in this country for several years. His occupation is that of a granite cutter, he being employed by the Martinson Estate Co. The bride arrived in Barre last Thursday, coming to the city from Boston, where she landed a few days previously.

At 8 o'clock Saturday evening a reception was tendered the couple in the Clan Gordon hall, Bolster building. The reception was attended by nearly 100 of their friends. The evening was devoted to an impromptu program of musical numbers and dancing. Refreshments were served to the gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Keir were the recipients of a handsome chamber set from their friends.

JUDGE HEARS
MANY CASES

Were Called in Barre City Court This Morning

THE MOST SERIOUS
IS BEING HELD OPEN

Mike J. Sartorelli Alleged to Have Gone on a Rampage

Alleged transgressors of the law from South Ryegate, Graniteville, Montpelier and Barre figured in the forenoon's doings at city court today. The presence of certain of the respondents was due, in part, it is said, to the kind of thirst that only a strong combination like hot weather and a legal holiday can produce. Mike J. Sartorelli, a one-time inmate of the state hospital at Waterbury, did not appear in person, but a description of his alleged misbehavior was furnished the court and Judge H. W. Scott, with the state's attorney, decided that his case should be considered by the city attorney and overseer of the poor.

Mike is said to have gone on a rampage Saturday, and when the officers were called to his home on South Main street they relieved him of a hungry-looking knife and tried to restore him to a happier frame of mind. Sartorelli lives alone in the Parker house, so-called, and the officers say that he sometimes makes dire threats to the neighbors. Saturday, it is claimed, he proposed to do something desperate if anyone made a move to injure his dogs. Mike has two dogs and they seem to keep him in a peak of trouble most of the time. Officer Ed. L. McLeod brought the man to police headquarters. It is understood that an effort will be made to recommit him to the state hospital, whence he journeyed back in May, 1910, only to be released later.

Yani Tananen and Adola Kainis, two quarrymen from Graniteville, were brought into court by Deputy Sheriff W. E. Cutler of South Barre, who arrested them on the hill Saturday night. They were charged with cruelty to animals, it being alleged that they had applied inhuman measures in urging along a horse belonging to Frank McGuire's livery in Graniteville. Neither man could understand the judge or state's attorney, but afterwards they decided to plead guilty. Fines of $5 and costs of $11.00 were paid in both cases and the respondents were taken to the city jail. The arrests were made on complaints filed by State's Attorney J. Ward Carver.

Ellis Spencer of South Barre accompanied the deputy sheriff to court and he pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication. The case against him was continued for sentence until Aug. 18. Spencer was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Cutler, after his actions had badly frightened women members of the Spencer household at South Barre. William Davidson of South Ryegate, who said he came from London, Eng., was arraigned on an intoxication charge to which he pleaded guilty. He made arrangements to pay a fine of $5 and costs of $7.10. Davidson was arrested Saturday evening by Officer John W. Dineen.
